

Dean Bill Flanagan is honoured to invite you to

The 2016 Laskin Lecture:

“Is there a Need for a Special Court in Corporate Litigation?”

delivered by

Zohar Goshen
Alfred W. Bressler Professor of Law,
Columbia Law School

Alfred W. Bressler Professor of Law, Columbia Law School

Zohar Goshen is the Alfred W. Bressler Professor of Law, at Columbia Law School. He began his teaching career as the Phillip P. Mizock and Estelle Mizock Professor of Law at the Hebrew University of Jerusalem in 1991. His research focuses on corporate law, corporate governance, securities regulation, and corporate finance. From 2008 through 2011, Professor Goshen was the Chairman of the Israel Securities Authority (Israel's SEC). He has also served as Chairperson of the Disciplinary Court of Securities Advisers and Portfolio Managers (1997 - 2000), Chairperson for the Israeli Securities Authority's Corporate Governance Code Committee (2005-2006), Chairperson for the Israeli Ministry of Trade's Committee for Reevaluating the Israeli Antitrust Law (2005-2006), and a member of Israel's Democracy Institute.

Professor Goshen received his LL.B., from The Hebrew University (1987); served as a law clerk to then-Chief Justice Meir Shamgar of the Supreme Court of Israel (1986 - 1987); and received his LL.M. and S.J.D. from Yale University (1990, 1991).

Thursday, September 29, 2016

Reception: 4:30 p.m. Student Lounge, Macdonald Hall

Lecture: 5:30 p.m. Dunning 14, Dunning Hall

---

The Laskin Lecture Series, named after the former Chief Justice of Canada, the Right Honourable Bora Laskin, is supported by a gift generously made to the University by the Jeremy and Judith Freedman Family Foundation.

