

Master's in Political and Legal Thought

This 12-month program is an exciting opportunity to work intensively in an important interdisciplinary field with leading scholars in a lively intellectual community. Students receive a Master of Arts in Philosophy or Political Studies, or a Master of Laws.

"The new Master's in Political and Legal Thought will further enhance Queen's University's reputation as a leading centre for political and legal philosophy in North America. The range of topics it covers is excellent, and essential groundwork for any student wishing to proceed to doctoral research."

- David Miller, FBA, Professor of Political Theory, Oxford University

Political and Legal Thought Faculty at Queen's

Political Studies:

Colin Farrelly (Ph.D. Bristol)
Andrew Lister (Ph.D. UCLA)
Eleanor MacDonald (Ph.D. York)
Margaret Moore (Ph.D. LSE)

Law:

Chris Essert (S.J.D. Yale)
Leslie Green (D.Phil. Oxford)
Michael Pratt (Ph.D. Sydney)
Jean Thomas (Ph.D. NYU)
Grégoire Webber (D.Phil. Oxford)
Jacob Weinrib (Ph.D. Toronto)

Philosophy:

Jacqueline Davies (Ph.D. Queen's)
Paul Fairfield (Ph.D. McMaster)
Kerah Gordon-Solmon (D.Phil. Oxford)
Rahul Kumar (D.Phil. Oxford)
Will Kymlicka (D.Phil. Oxford)
Alistair Macleod (Ph.D. Queen's)
Christine Overall (Ph.D. Toronto)
Udo Schüklenk (Ph.D. Monash)
Mick Smith (Ph.D. York, UK)
Christine Sypnowich (D.Phil. Oxford)