Completing this year? The application to graduate is now available in your solus account. A tutorial is available to assist you at this link: <http://www.queensu.ca/registrar/solus/academics>.

The deadline to apply is April 30. If you would like to validate that you have (or will have) completed your requirements, please use the Degree Requirements Checklist that can be found in the Portal.

If you still have questions, please visit or email Tricia Acton (actonp@queensu.ca) or Jo Crocco (croccog@queensu.ca) in the Student Services Office, room 200.

The convocation ceremony is scheduled for Thursday, June 6, 2019, at 1:00 pm. Please see this link for further convocation related information: <http://www.queensu.ca/registrar/convocation>

Calling all grad students! Foundry event Wednesday 16th at “Ignition Week”

Do you think your research could become a business or social venture? Are you working on research that solves an important societal problem? Are you interested in entrepreneurship?

Join us for the Foundry mixer on January 16th to share your research with a group of students who are change makers and entrepreneurs and may be the perfect fit for you to build your research into a venture. If you think your supervisor would be interested, please bring them along! And perhaps they would even like to join you for the pitch.

You will have 3 minutes to explain your research in layperson's language followed by no more than 2 minutes for questions. A meet and greet session will follow, for you to speak one-on-one with people who are interested.

A representative from MITACs will be present to discuss how their funding can support grad student entrepreneurs. This is an awesome opportunity to meet them!

To summarize:

Who: Graduate students from all faculties and schools

Where: Mitchell Hall Event Commons

When: January 16th 11:30-1:00

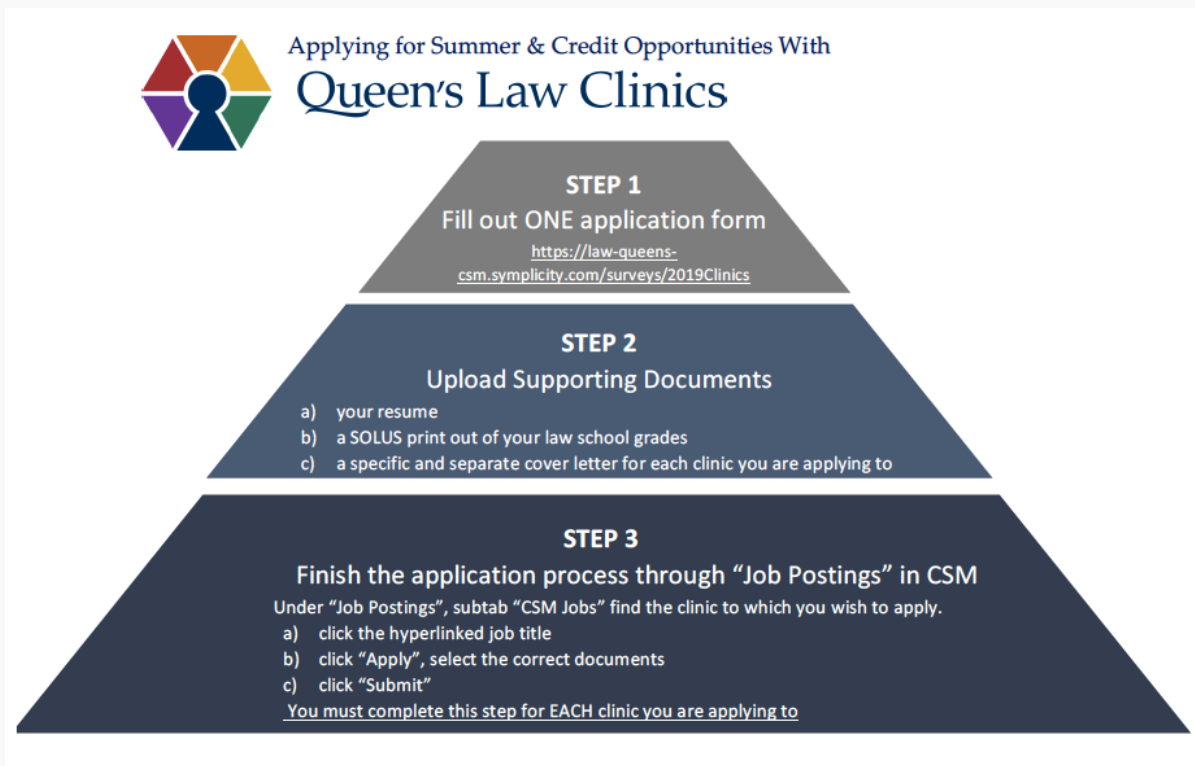

What: A showcase of research at Queen's that could form the basis for a company or not-for-profit

Format: 3 slide presentation in laypersons language, 2 minutes for questions

How do I sign up? RSVP here: innovation.centre@queensu.ca by 9 am on Wednesday January 16th. Drop-ins are welcome though!

The Moot Court Program – Experiential Learning

Competitive mooting slips into high gear this term as sixteen teams race to meet writing deadlines and start fine tuning their oral arguments before travelling to represent Queen’s Law at various mooting competitions within Ontario, across Canada, south to the United States, and over to Europe. The first competition takes place January 23, 2019. Competition dates

Have you considered pursuing an MBA?

In addition to the traditional JD/MBA route, the Smith School of Business at Queen’s offers the Graduate Diploma in Business: a 4-month summer term program offering 10 courses that can be credited toward a Queen’s MBA, significantly cutting down on the time to complete your MBA in the future.

Learn more about the Graduate Diploma in Business by registering for one of the following webinars:

FLSQ IWD Conference -- call for papers

The Feminist Legal Studies Queen's annual International Women's Day Conference, which will be held next door in Sutherland Hall on March 8 and 9th.

We are including you in the call for papers because every one of the FLSQ IWD conferences has featured members of the law school faculty and student body, including JD students.

This year, the IWD conference will feature the Keynote Lecture by the renowned Professor Angela Harris, from the University of California Davis School of Law, who is visiting Queen's University in March as the 2018-2019 Principal's Development Fund Visiting Scholar. For details of her work and record, see <https://poverty.ucdavis.edu/profile/angela-p-harris>.

Professor Harris will open the conference on March 8 at 1 pm with her keynote lecture 'The Color of Farming: Food and the Reproduction of Race.'

Call for Presenters: I@Q Undergraduate Research Conference

Hello JD students: here is an opportunity to share your research with the Queen's community! Undergraduate students from all disciplines – including law – with research, experiential learning and creative projects are invited to present at the 13th Annual I@Q Undergraduate Research Conference. Your participation provides the opportunity to

- Share your research and learning with the Queen's community

- Experience an academic conference
- Enhance graduate and career skills including critical thinking, effective writing and presentation skills
- Engage in scholarly communication with students and faculty from many disciplines

Law students have presented at past I@Q conferences on topics as diverse as good faith in contract law, the case and challenges of universally subsidized childcare, protections offered by international humanitarian law, and laws targeting revenge pornography. If you have a paper that you would like to share, we would love to hear from you!

Inquiry@Queen's takes place on March 7th and 8th in Stauffer Library. The deadline for submitting your abstract is Thursday, January 31st.

For more information about the conference including guidelines for submitting a proposal, go to the conference website at <http://www.queensu.ca/iatq/iq-undergraduate-research-conference>. If you have questions, you can also speak with Patrick, Reference Assistant in the Law Library, who is on the conference organizing committee.

Free Access to Practical Law Canada for Faculty and Students

We are pleased to remind you that all law school faculty and students now have free access to Practical Law Canada. Access is available directly with the academic user's OnePass.

An excellent complement to your course materials, Practical Law Canada's annotated standard documents and clauses, practice note overviews, checklists, and more are created and maintained by our dedicated in-house lawyer-editors.
