Research Assistant Position

Posting date: March 8, 2021
Closing date: March 14, 2021

The Faculty of Law, Queen’s University, requests applications from JD/Graduate students interested in a research assistant position working for Professor Martha Bailey.

Professor Bailey is looking for one or more research assistants to work on a project relating to cross-border family law and indigenous self-government in regard to family law.

Please be advised, due to COVID-19, the work for this position will be done remotely. The RA must have access to the internet and a computer that meets minimum requirements. All work can be completed during the regular 9-5 work week, but candidates can work outside of that time frame if they prefer.

Students with a background in family law and in private international law or aboriginal law are encouraged to apply. Strong research and writing skills will be important for this project.

The contract will commence after the exam period and will continue over the summer and possibly into the fall.

Application Procedure:
Interested applicants should submit the following materials:
- Cover email, stating your interest in the position and highlighting relevant experience.
- Complete and current curriculum vitae.
- Informal transcripts from both Queen’s Law and your undergraduate program of study.

Please address applications to:
Martha Bailey, baileym@queensu.ca

The University will provide support in its recruitment processes to applicants with disabilities, including accommodation that takes into account an applicant’s accessibility needs. If you require accommodation during the application process, please contact Miranda Gavidia.
For additional details and information on the position, please contact Martha Bailey at baileym@queensu.ca.
