Faculty of Law, Queen's University
Kingston, Ontario, Canada, K7L 3N6
Rm. 524, E: a.imseis@queensu.ca

GENERAL PROFILE: Ardi Imseis is a scholar-practitioner of international law and relations with 19 years of international and domestic experience. Between 2002 and 2014, he served in senior legal and policy capacities with the United Nations in the Middle East and is former Senior Legal Counsel to the Chief Justice of Alberta. He served as a Member of the UN's Group of Eminent International and Regional Experts on Yemen, the Human Rights Council-mandated commission of inquiry on the armed conflict in Yemen (2019-2021). Among other things, he combines a general expertise in public international law (in particular international human rights, humanitarian, refugee, criminal, and UN law) with core common law areas of practice. He has taught at a number of universities around the world and has provided expert testimony before various high-level bodies, including the UN Security Council and to members of the UK House of Lords and the French Senat. He is a dynamic individual who combines proven intellectual and institutional leadership capabilities in both academic and public international settings. His research has been published in leading international journals and has attracted substantial support from leading funding bodies.

Sept. 03 – April 04 Harvard University
Certificate – Program of Technical Assistance on International Humanitarian Law to UN Operations in the occupied Palestinian territory

RELEVANT EXPERIENCE:

Dec. 19 – Oct. 21 United Nations, Group of Eminent International and Regional Experts on Yemen (GEE)
Member
Appointed by the UN High Commissioner of Human Rights to serve as a Member of the GEE, a three-member commission of inquiry mandated by the UN Human Rights Council to investigate and report on violations and abuses of international human rights and humanitarian law committed by all parties to the armed conflict in Yemen since September 2014.

July 18 – present Queen’s University, Faculty of Law, Canada
Assistant Professor of Law
Academic Director, International Law Program
I teach public international law, international humanitarian law and legal ethics and professional responsibility. In addition, I am Director of the Academic Programs, and professor of international human rights and refugee law in the Queen’s International Law Program at the Bader International Studies Centre, Herstmonceux Castle, East Sussex, United Kingdom.

Feb. 07 – Sept. 14 United Nations Relief and Works Agency (UNRWA)
Head, Field Legal Office, West Bank Field Office, East Jerusalem
As head of UNRWA’s Legal Office in Jerusalem I was the chief legal counselor to the Director of UNRWA Operations in the West Bank. Matters on which the advice of my office was regularly solicited included: international refugee law, international human rights law; international humanitarian law; the privileges and immunities of the United Nations; the legal personality of the United Nations and its subsidiary organs; the law of State responsibility; UNRWA’s legal relations with governmental authorities; international institutional law; international labour law; and general contract, property and tort law. Conducted day to day liaison with governmental authorities in order to safeguard Agency operations and the human rights of Palestine refugees, including as impacted by actions or omissions of both the Israeli and Palestinian authorities. Advised on the legal and policy aspects of the Agency’s Operation’s Support Officer Programme, including on human rights and protection related interventions with Israeli and Palestinian authorities, members of the UN Country Team and NGOs. Established and maintained contact with local lawyers with a view to assisting Palestine refugees in need of international protection as well as to resolving potential disputes and claims against the Agency. Advised on claims for Registered Refugee Status against UNRWA’s Consolidated Eligibility and Registration Criteria. Sought access to Agency staff in detention, ascertained the conditions under which staff were being detained, and provided staff with appropriate legal assistance during and after periods of detention. Conducted internal investigations and participated on internal boards of inquiry on matters as varied as sexual assault and fraud. Supervised a team of five persons, including internationally and locally trained and professionally qualified staff lawyers.

May 14 – August 14 United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees (UNHCR)
Senior External Relations Officer, Cairo, Egypt
Reporting directly to UNHCR Regional Representative to the League of Arab States and the Arab Republic of Egypt, I was tasked with leading the External Relations and Communications Unit at UNHCR, with a focus on policy and refugee protection advocacy. Day-to-day functions included, inter alia: ensuring that UNHCR Egypt’s external partners were informed regularly on all aspects of the protection and well-being of persons of concern and the status of UNHCR operations; keeping abreast of challenges posed by the political and humanitarian operating environment; ensuring that UNHCR Egypt provided necessary inputs for fundraising and resource mobilization efforts; and supporting senior management in representing UNHCR in the UN Country Team and other UN coordination fora. The posting was temporary while on secondment from UNRWA.

Aug. 10 – August 11

Court of Appeal of Alberta, Canada

Senior Legal Counsel to the Chief Justice of Alberta

Provided direct legal counsel to the Chief Justice of the Court of Appeal of Alberta. Regular duties included analysis of highly detailed case material before the Court, provision of legal advice on complex substantive and procedural matters, drafting of judgments for the Chief Justice, preparation of high level legal research and memoranda, preparation of speeches for the Chief Justice, and providing all other services in the nature of a barrister and solicitor for the Chief Justice. Areas of practice were as varied as the broad jurisdiction of the Court, and included cases in the following areas: mass civil claims for damages; property; criminal convictions and sentences (murder, assault, drug offences, fraud, etc.); administrative discipline; oil and gas; contract; tort; negligence; summary dismissal; and various interlocutory matters. The Court of Appeal for Alberta is a court of inherent jurisdiction empowered to hear civil, criminal and any other matter not expressly vested by statute in another court. It is the highest court in the Province of Alberta with appeals only to the Supreme Court of Canada (as less than 2% of all cases heard are actually appealed to the Supreme Court, the Court of Appeal is effectively the court of last resort in Alberta). The posting was temporary while on special leave from the UN.

Sept. 02 – Jan. 07

United Nations Relief and Works Agency (UNRWA)

Senior Policy Analysis Officer, Headquarters, Gaza Strip

Advised the Commissioner-General's Office and senior management on the substantive development of UNRWA policy. This included: regular and timely analysis of the political, legal and socio-economic state of the Agency's operating environment; daily reporting on developments affecting Agency operations, including the Wall and its associated regime; and critical assessment of the Agency's major program interventions, including formulation and drafting of recommendations and action plans. Drafted speeches, talking points, discussion papers, briefing papers, inter-Agency communiqués and official correspondence for use by Commissioner-General in dealings with the diplomatic and donor community. Central in formulating and drafting Agency policy in respect of the international protection of Palestine refugees with particular reference to international refugee law, humanitarian law and human rights law; gender equality in refugee registration and service provision; human rights-based approaches to humanitarian interventions; and, the disengagement of Israel from the Gaza Strip and its implications for UNRWA operations under international humanitarian law. Appointed September 2002 as Policy Analysis Officer; promoted March 2006 to Senior Policy Analysis Officer; transferred February 2007 to Head, Field Legal Office, West Bank Field Office.

July 99 – July 01

Kramer Henderson LLP, Barristers, Toronto, Ontario, Canada

Associate Lawyer

Civil litigation practice. Regularly appeared before the Ontario Superior Court of Justice and various tribunals in the Province of Ontario. Experience in all aspects of civil litigation and mediation, including mass civil claims and transnational litigation involving comprehensive research in comparative common and civil law jurisdictions. Conducted trials, pre-trial hearings, interlocutory motions, discovery, written and oral examinations, applications, and appeals. Areas of practice included: human rights litigation; shareholders rights and remedies; contract and real property disputes; banking litigation; departing employees and fiduciary obligations; professional negligence; general torts; injunctions and other pre-trial remedies; construction liens; and bankruptcy and insolvency.

OTHER ACADEMIC AND TEACHING POSITIONS (including pro bono):

July 2015 – June 2016

American University in Cairo, Department of Law, Egypt

Visiting Research Scholar

I was invited by the Department of Law at the AUC to take up this position while conducting field research for my doctorate.

- Jan.-Mar. 2016 University of Cambridge, Department of Politics and International Studies, United Kingdom
Supervisor
Provided supervisions in undergraduate course on Comparative Politics (POL 4), consisting of small group teaching seminars and grading of term papers.
- Feb. 08 – Dec 2019 Palestine Yearbook of International Law
Editor-in-Chief
The Yearbook is jointly published by Brill Nijhoff publishers and the Birzeit University Institute of Law. Since 1985, it has established itself as a leading English-language international law journal in the Arab World, and is the principal source of information on public international law and the question of Palestine. In addition to articles by leading scholars, researchers and practitioners, the Yearbook offers a wide array of UN documentation, key legislation, court decisions, book reviews and other relevant legal materials translated from the original Arabic and Hebrew languages.
- 2013 – 2018 Queens University, Faculty of Law, Canada
Visiting Lecturer in Public International Law & Instructor International Refugee Law
Invited on an annual basis to lecture on public international law to Canadian law students enrolled in the Queen Law School's Global Law Program at the Bader international Studies Centre, Herstmonceux Castle, East Sussex, United Kingdom. Topics covered have included international humanitarian and human rights law, the law of the United Nations, and Third World Approaches to International Law theory. In 2017, I taught an intensive course on international refugee law.
- 2011 University of Alberta, Faculty of Law, Canada
Sessional Lecturer in International Criminal Law
Taught a seminar course in international criminal law, focused on the "core" international crimes of genocide, crimes against humanity, war crimes, and aggression, as well as other international crimes of serious concern including torture, apartheid and terrorism. Topics covered included: jurisdiction; national prosecutions of international crimes; extradition and mutual legal assistance; the history of international criminal prosecutions; the Ad Hoc International Criminal Tribunals; the International Criminal Court; international criminal procedure, including the rights of the accused; defences and excuses; amnesties and immunities; sentencing, penalties and reparations for victims. Duties included close supervision and grading of student research. Nominated for prestigious Pringle/Royal Sessional Teaching Award in recognition of superior teaching as judged by students.
- Mar. 07 – May 08 Bethlehem University, Occupied Palestinian Territory
Senior Lecturer in International Refugee Law
Lectured pro-bono in international refugee law as part of Bethlehem University's Masters programme in International Cooperation and Development (MICAD), coordinated by the School of Business in cooperation with the University of Pavia (Italy), University College Dublin (Ireland) and Radboud University (Netherlands). The lectures were given to 35 mid-career professionals enrolled in the programme, which aims to cultivate and empower local development in the occupied Palestinian territory. Duties included close supervision and grading of student research.
- Jan. 06 – Jan. 07 Birzeit University, Institute of Law, Occupied Palestinian Territory
Assistant Professor of Public International Law
Held a part-time appointment as an Assistant Professor at Birzeit, where I taught a survey course in public international law to graduate students on a pro bono basis while serving as a UN official with UNRWA. The course included a special focus on international human rights law, international refugee law, international humanitarian law, and international criminal law.

Other topics covered included: sources of law; subjects of law; the relationship between municipal and international law; recognition of states and governments; state jurisdiction and responsibility; the law of treaties; international refugee law; the law of international organizations; peaceful settlement of disputes; and the use of force. Duties included close supervision of student research.

May 2004

Harvard University, Program on Humanitarian Policy and Conflict Research (HPCR)

Lecturer

Invited in my personal capacity to lecture on the nature, purpose and applicability of international humanitarian law as part of a training course administered by Harvard University on international humanitarian law for the donor and diplomatic community in Israel and the occupied Palestinian territory. Based on my practical and theoretical experience in the area of international humanitarian law, topics lectured upon included: basic principles of international humanitarian law; civilian participation in hostilities; distinctions between international humanitarian law and international human rights law; principal international humanitarian law instruments; application of international humanitarian law to occupied territory; and opportunities and challenges of international humanitarian law in situations of belligerent occupation.

Sept. 01 – Jan. 02

Columbia University, School of International and Public Affairs, New York, United States

Teaching Assistant, Public International Law

Assisted in the instruction of a graduate course in public international law. Led graduate seminar discussions on selected topics, provided general tutoring and aided in setting and grading examinations as well as other methods of student evaluation. Topics of instruction covered included: sources of law, subjects of law; the relationship between municipal and international law; recognition of states and governments; state jurisdiction and responsibility; the law of treaties; international human rights law; international humanitarian law; international refugee law; the law of international organizations; peaceful settlement of disputes; and the use of force.

Sept. 98 – May 99

Dalhousie University, Faculty of Law, Canada

Legal Researcher and Editor, International Human Rights Law

Edited and upgraded the faculty textbook in international human rights law. Developed an intimate familiarity with a wide array of international human rights law instruments, case law and practice. In addition, gained an in-depth understanding of the various conventional and extra-conventional human rights mechanisms available through the UN System, including the main treaty-monitoring bodies, and thematic and country mandates of Special Rapporteurs, Special Representatives and independent experts.
