STUDYING IN THE SCHOOL OF LAW

Exchange students have access to a wide range of LL.B. modules. Modules on offer to exchange students are from the four years of the LL.B. programme. The upper-level, ‘Sophister’, modules offer specialized International and European Law module with a comparative focus. These modules include large-group modules, reading groups, and research-based modules. A list will be circulated to JD exchange students in the late Spring 2023.

For a description of the law modules on offer, please visit our website: http://www.tcd.ie/law/programmes/undergraduate/modules

The School of Law uses the ECTS and modules are worth either 5 or 10 ECTS. It is standard that students complete 30 ECTS for one semester and 60 ECTS for the full academic year.

Exchange students are expected to complete the standard form of assessment in their modules. Trinity
Law School cannot accommodate special assessment requests that go beyond the academic curriculum in the Law School.

You will be asked to send a provisional list of law modules to the Law School prior to arrival. While the Law School will try to accommodate your first preference of modules, some modules may be full or there can be time-table clashes, so students need to have back-up modules. Students will finalise their module choices in the first weeks of term.

For further information on the grading system in Trinity College Dublin, please visit: https://www.tcd.ie/study/study-abroad/inbound/study-options/

Please note that exchange students are welcomed on the LL.B. programme as the LL.M. programme has capacity issues. Modules are heavily subscribed, and priority is given to students registered on the specialized LL.M. degrees.

PRIVATE ACCOMMODATION

Many exchange students, like most Irish students living away from home, live in shared houses or small self-catering flats and apartments in the inner suburbs of the city. There is a high demand for accommodation in Dublin and students are advised to arrive in Dublin at least 3-4 weeks before term begins in order to maximise their chances of finding suitable and affordable accommodation.
The Accommodation Advisory Service will operate August to September and again in January to assist exchange students in finding accommodation:

The Students’ Union has also put together a useful guide explaining the different parts of the city where students usually rent:
